

To whom it may concern :

The WBC Amateur committee has enjoyed sensational activity in many places of the world as we bring a safe and well structured platform for amateur boxing programs in the recreational and competition mode while performing a wide variety of social responsibility programs for the betterment of the youth of the world.

Tony Milch founder of Gloves and Doves, Boxing Development Officer / Head Coach of WBC Team Israel will now be partnering with The Amateur Boxing Alliance of England. We will work together on international events, promoting boxing tournaments under WBC Amateurs and helping to train & assist partner clubs who share our vision of peace and unity through our great sport.

The WBC is privileged to support these type of programs and alliances which bring opportunities to the less fortunate who are trying to build a path for their future.

The boxing shows are great events as all those participating can witness of our mission of Unity which also help youths gain international boxing experience, bringing together youth of mixed faiths and backgrounds.

Please accept my very regards and I am available for any comments or consultations.
